Off duty Challenger Mine employee fatally injured in a motor vehicle accident

Kingsgate Consolidated Ltd deeply regrets to advise that an off duty employee of its Challenger Mine in South Australia was fatally injured in a motor vehicle accident on or near the Commonwealth Hill Station access road around 90 kilometres from the mine site. The accident is believed to have taken place Thursday morning, 25th April 2013, while the employee was returning home. It is understood that the employee was the only occupant of the vehicle.

The police and authorities were notified and the police have control of the accident site at this remote location.

The company extends its deepest sympathy to the family of the deceased and all those affected by the accident.
