2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Company's financial statements were prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles of the Republic of China. The significant accounting policies and bases of measurement adopted in preparing these financial statements are summarized as follows:

(a) Statements of Cash Flows

Compilation of statements of cash flows is based upon cash and cash equivalents. Cash includes cash on hand, savings accounts, checking accounts, unrestricted time deposits, and negotiable certificates of deposits. Cash equivalents consist of short-term and highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amount of cash with mature with short notice so that the interest rate fluctuations have little effect on their value. Cash equivalents include Treasury bills, commercial paper, and banker's acceptances.

(b) Short-Term Investments

Short-term investments are valued at the lower of total cost or market. Government bonds are valued at the lower of total cost or market if market quotes are available; otherwise bonds are carried at par and adjusted by accumulated unamortized discount or premium. Commercial paper is carried at cost.

Loss due to market decline or gain on recovery in market value arising from valuation of marketable securities at the lower of total cost or market are classified as unrealized gain or loss on marketable securities. Gain on short-term notes transactions is accounted for as interest income.

Short-Term Investments under repurchase agreements or restricted should be stated.

(c) Long-Term Equity Investments

Under the Interpretation Letter No. (90) 182 issued by the Accounting Research and Development Foundation of the Republic of China on October 29, 2001, when a financial holding company is established through conversion of shares of a financial institution, the invested capital acquired by the financial holding company is valued on the basis of the difference between the book value of their assets and liabilities. Portion of the investment acquired equal to par value of the shares issued is accounted for as capital stock and that portion exceeding par value is accounted for as capital surplus.

Long-term equity investments are carried at cost. Investments in listed companies with less than 20% ownership are valued at the lower of total cost or market value, and the unrealized loss from the decline in market value below cost is charged against stockholders' equity. Investments in non-listed companies are carried at cost. If the impairment in the value of investment is other than temporary and the recovery of the carrying amount is deemed unlikely, loss on investment is recognized currently.

CHINATRUST FINANCIAL HOLDING COMPANY, LTD.

Affiliates with equity ownership of 20% to 50% are accounted for under the equity method. The Company prepares consolidated financial statements every quarter for majority-owned affiliates, in accordance with the Financial Holding Company Law. However, consolidated statements are not prepared if the total assets and operating revenues of a subsidiary (excluding subsidiary banks and those required by MOF) do not exceed 10% of those of the Company's accounts, and if the combined assets or operating revenues of all of these subsidiaries do not each exceed 30% of those of the Company's accounts.

The moving-average method is adopted in calculating the cost upon the sale of long-term equity investments carried at cost, with gains or losses included in current earnings.

(d) Bills and Bonds Sold Under Repurchase Agreement

When bills and bonds sold under repurchase agreements are sold and the benefits and risks are not transferred within the transaction period, then the transaction is treated as a financing transaction. When such bills and bonds are sold, they are recorded at their sales price and reflected under "bills and bonds sold under repurchase agreements." The difference between the sales price and repurchase price is reflected as interest expense.

(e) Convertible Bonds

Due to the inseparability of its conversion option and debt elements convertible bond is stated at the total proceeds received on issuance day.

The direct and necessary cost of issuing convertible bond is recognized as issue expense and amortized using the straight-line method over the term of the bond or over the period from issuance to expiry of the put option, whichever is shorter. If repayment occurs prior to maturity, then the remaining unamortized issue expense is recognized as current expense in proportion of early redemption.

The redemption premium of puttable convertible bonds, which represents the difference between the specified put price and par value, is amortized using the interest method and is recognized as a liability over the period from the issuance date of the bonds to the expiry date of the put option.

When bondholders exercise their conversion rights, the issuer writes off the unamortized issue costs, redemption premium, and par value of the convertible bonds. The common stock exchange certificate and the common stock are valued at net written-off amount (book value approach). The excess of the net written-off carrying amount over the par value of the common stock exchange certificate or common stock is recognized as additional paid-in capital.

CHINATRUST FINANCIAL HOLDING COMPANY, LTD.

(f) Income Taxes

The Company adopted the Statements of Financial Accounting Standards (“SFAS”) No. 22, “Accounting for Income Taxes” to make inter- and intra-period income tax allocation. Deferred income taxes reflect net tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for the financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for income tax purposes. Tax effects of deductible temporary differences, unused investment tax credits, and operating loss carry forwards are treated as deferred tax assets, whereas those of taxable temporary differences are accounted for as deferred tax liabilities. A valuation allowance is provided for deferred tax assets by assessing whether it is more likely than not such assets will realize.

When the Company files a consolidated corporate income tax return for the affiliated group pursuant to the ordinance of consolidated taxation, it shall determine the income tax liability of each individual member of the group in accordance with SFAS No. 22, “Accounting for Income Taxes”. During the period of consolidation, the members of the group calculate and adjust deferred tax assets (liabilities) or current income tax payable (receivable) accordingly based on a reasonable, consistent and systematic method, and such adjustments should be reflected as other receivable (payable) in income tax recognition.

(g) Treasury Stock

The Company adopts SFAS No. 30 “Accounting for Treasury Stock” to account for repurchase of its outstanding shares, carried at cost. Upon the disposition of this treasury stock, the excess of selling price over its book value is recorded as “capital surplus—treasury stock.” If the selling price is lower than book value, the difference is charged against capital surplus from treasury stock in the same category, and any deficit is debited against retained earnings. The book value of treasury stock is separately computed by reasons of purchase and using the weighted-average method.

Upon retirement, the “capital surplus—premium on issuance of capital stock” is debited on a pro rata basis. If the book value exceeds the premium on issuance of capital stock, the difference is offset against “capital surplus—treasury stock” in the same classification, and any deficit is charge against retained earnings. If the book value is lower than the total of capital stock and premium on stock issuance, the difference is credited to “capital surplus—treasury stock” in the same.

The Company treats the treasury stock held by subsidiaries prior to stock conversion as treasury stock and as deduction from stockholders’ equity.

CHINATRUST FINANCIAL HOLDING COMPANY, LTD.

Under the SFC Letter Ruling No. (6) 111467, a financial institution which purchases its treasury stock pursuant to Article 28-2, Paragraph 1 of Securities Trading Law, and it subsequently becomes a subsidiary of a financial holding company through a stock conversion, its treasury stock is converted to shares of the financial holding company in accordance with Article 31 of Financial Holding Company Law. The financial institution shall continue to treat the converted shares as treasury stock and as deduction from stockholders' equity. The financial holding company shall treat these converted shares as treasury stock.

The Company redeemed Series B preferred shares, and prior to the completion of the change of registration, the preferred shares were reflected under treasury stock – preferred stock.

(h) Earnings per share (EPS)

Basic EPS is calculated by dividing net income, net of preferred stock dividends by the weighted-average shares outstanding during the period. Diluted EPS is calculated by dividing current net income, net of preferred stock dividends and after-tax interest expense of convertible bonds by the weighted-average number of outstanding common shares and the total number of convertible bonds and stock warrants with dilutive effect. In the event of capital increase through capitalization of retained earnings, capital surplus, or employee bonuses, basic EPS is retroactively adjusted regardless of the outstanding period when incremental shares are issued.

(i) Foreign Currency Translation

Foreign currency transactions are recorded in their original currency. Foreign exchange gains and losses arising from settlement of foreign-currency-denominated assets and liabilities and adjustments from translating such assets and liabilities at spot rates on balance sheet date are included in current earnings.

(j) Financial Derivatives

Memorandum entries of notional principals are made on the contract date for cross currency swaps. Forward accounts receivables offset payables on balance sheet date with the difference reflected as an asset or a liability. For non-trading swaps, interest is accrued based on contract terms and principal repayment period, resulting from the realization of either receivables or payables and the hedged positions reported as current interest revenue or expense.

The board of directors may adjust the earnings distribution upon approval of a resolution approved by the shareholders during their meeting.

After-tax earnings, if any, are used to pay for taxes, offset cumulative losses, appropriate legal reserve and special reserve. Then, preferred stock dividends are distributed prior to the other distribution of the remaining earnings. The total amount for the distribution of employee bonus is based on rates ranging from 0.01% and 0.05%. The total amount for the remuneration to directors and supervisors is determined at the rate of 4% and any adjustments thereon are made in accordance with the resolution approved by the shareholders during their meeting.

Distributions of employees bonus and actual earnings as discussed above are subject to resolutions by the board of directors. If new shares are issued for employees bonus, the employees of the Company's subsidiaries may receive the shares in compliance with the Company Law. The board of directors will decide on the terms and conditions of the issuance of such shares.

The proposal for earnings distribution for 2003 has to be presented in the shareholders' meeting on June 11, 2004.

CHINATRUST FINANCIAL HOLDING COMPANY, LTD.

(k) FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

(i) Financial Derivatives:

The Company hedges its exposure to fluctuations in exchange rates for its foreign currency denominated obligations and engages in cross currency swaps and foreign currency swaps. The Company also engages in interest rate swaps to hedge the risks of interest rate fluctuations for New Taiwan Dollar denominated obligations. For the six months ended June 30, 2004 and 2003, the Company held the following financial derivatives:

(1) Contract Amount or Nominal Principal and Credit Risk

Financial Instrument	June 30, 2004
	Contract Amount (notional principle)	Credit Risk
Non-trading
Currency swaps	$ 3,202,820	$ -
Cross currency swaps	6,434,138	14,790
Interest rate swaps	9,000,000	-
	June 30, 2003
Financial Instrument	Contract Amount (notional principle)	Credit Risk
Non-trading
Currency swaps	$ 1,661,376	$ 109
Cross currency swaps	5,159,800	209,031
Interest rate swaps	5,000,000	9,155

The amount of credit risk is the sum of contracts with positive fair market value at the balance sheet date, and represents the Company's possible loss in the event of default by counterparties. The counterparties are mostly reputable financial institutions with good credit ratings. As a result, the management deems the possibility of default was low.

(2) Market Risk

The Company engages in foreign currency swaps and cross currency swaps with fixed interest rates and therefore, the market risk resulting from interest rates fluctuation is minimal. Interest rates swaps for which the Company had entered into have a hedging characteristic, whereby the gains or losses resulting from changes in interest rates are offset by gains or losses on the hedged items. Therefore, market risk is not significant. Any market risk that the Company is subject to is offset by exchange gain on hedged foreign- denominated claims and obligations.

CHINATRUST FINANCIAL HOLDING COMPANY, LTD.

(3) Liquidity Risk, Cash Flow Risk and Amount, Period, and Uncertainty of Future Demand for Cash

The Company entered into cross currency swaps and currency swaps transactions that have corresponding incoming and outgoing cash flow at maturity. Because the exchange rates of these swaps are fixed, there are minimal liquidity risk and cash flow risk.

The Company entered into interest rate swap transactions. On settlement date, the Company collects or pays interest calculated by multiplying the notional principal by the differences in interest rates. The amounts are insignificant because there are no incoming and outgoing cash flow of principal at maturity. Therefore, there is no additional demand for cash.

(4) Financial derivatives held by the Company, their Purpose, and Strategy:

The Company hedges its exposure to fluctuations in exchange rates for its foreign currency denominated obligations and engages in cross currency swaps and foreign currency swaps. The purposes for interest rate swap are to hedge the Company's risks of interest rate fluctuations for New Taiwan Dollar denominated obligations. The Company selects financial derivatives with opposite correlation to the fair values of the hedged items as hedging tools and evaluates such instruments periodically.

Total	$ 27,474,009	$ 27,474,009

Methods and assumptions used by the Company for evaluation of financial instruments were as follows:

- (1) Fair value of short-term financial instruments is estimated by their book value on the balance sheet. Since such instruments will mature shortly, book value is a reasonable basis in estimating the fair value. Such is applicable to cash in bank, short-term investments, other financial assets, payables, receivable, and other current liabilities.
- (2) The book value of long-term investments is accounted for under the equity method based on audited financial statements of investee companies. Since there are no market quotes or reference reports for non-listed companies, fair value of these investments are determined by their net equity value.
- (3) With respect to financial instruments such as refundable deposits that are indispensable guarantee for the ongoing operations of the Company, it is impossible to estimate the time necessary to accomplish exchange of assets. Consequently, the fair market value of such financial instruments cannot be established. The book value is used as the fair market value.

CHINATRUST FINANCIAL HOLDING COMPANY, LTD.

- (4) The fair market value of long-term debt is determined by the present value of future cash flows. Since the present values derived by using floating interest rates for discounting are close to the book values, the book values are their fair market values.
