SOURCE OF FUND FOR THE JOINT VENTURE

The Group will use the Bond Proceeds to finance the investment amount which it will contribute to the Joint Venture.

Reference is made to the Announcements in respect of the issue of convertible bonds. As disclosed in the Announcements, the Group has raised approximately HK$985 million from the issue of convertible bonds and it intended to use part of the Bond Proceeds to acquire or construct new shipyards near the coast allowing the Group to build ships with a displacement of exceeding 20,000 tonnes and to upgrade the existing production facilities of the Company.

Given the reasons discussed in the part “Reasons for and Benefits of the Formation of Joint Venture” below, the Directors are of the view that investment in the Joint Venture would be a better use of the Bond Proceeds, thus variation to the use of Bond Proceeds as aforesaid would be in the interests of the Company and the Shareholders as a whole.

REASONS FOR AND BENEFITS OF THE FORMATION OF JOINT VENTURE

The Group is principally engaged in shipbuilding related business. The Company will contribute to the Joint Venture by providing capital fund.

The Required Investor is a partnership enterprise established in the PRC in 2013. Its principal business is providing asset management services in shipbuilding and related sectors, it also provides investment consultancy, information consultancy, corporate management consultancy services.

The Second Limited Investor is a state-owned enterprise established in Zhoushan, the PRC with the principal business of investing in core promotion and supporting large-scale projects in Zhoushan, aiming at integration, transformation and upgrading of resources.

The Directors believe that the shipbuilding and the ocean engineering industry in Zhoushan holds potential, given that (a) the PRC government has started to adopt favourable national policies to, among other things, facilitate structural adjustment, promote corporate mergers, reorganisation and transformation of the shipbuilding industry; (b) Zhoushan is situated in a favourable geographical location, being near to the coast and Shanghai, a shipbuilding and ship-trading centre, and hence facilitating the shipbuilding and ocean engineering industry; (c) after Zhoushan has become the first new national strategic district in the PRC as a marine economic zone, various supporting facilities in the integration and upgrading of construction sites in the ocean engineering, shipbuilding and related industries will follow; and (d) the shipbuilding industry is recovering from the bottom, evidenced by a steady increase in new orders and building prices. Since shipbuilding business demands substantial investment amount and the Group may not have necessary funds to make use of the rising opportunities to develop its business, the investment in the Joint Venture would put the Company in a very unique position to invest in the shipbuilding industry. With investment experience of the Required Investor and the Second Limited Investor, it is expected that the Group will obtain reasonable gain from its investment in the Joint Venture.

The general partner of the Required Investor, has substantial experience in making investments in various industries, including but not limited to the shipbuilding and the ocean engineering industry. All its core members of management have more than 10 year experience in investment and management. A number of investment projects that it manages have performed much better under its investment or management.

In view of the background of the Second Limited Investor, it has a good connection in the shipbuilding, ocean engineering and related industries.

Thus, the Joint Venture can make use of the experience, expertise and connections of the aforesaid parties to make appropriate investment and establish a platform in Zhoushan for engaging in the shipbuilding and the ocean engineering industry. The Group, by investing in the Joint Venture, may share the investment income of the Joint Venture in the future and seize the opportunities to develop and expand its business in the shipbuilding and the ocean engineering industry in Zhoushan. By establishing a cooperative relationship with the Required Investor and the Second Limited Investor through the formation of the Joint Venture, the Group may also, rather by its own, rely on the local experiences of the Required Investor and the Second Limited Investor to invest in Zhoushan, which is expected to be more cost and time efficient.

Based on the aforesaid and having taken into account, among others, (1) the proportion of the investment amounts contributed by the parties in the Joint Venture; (2) the management role and the unlimited liability of the Required Investor; (3) the limited liability of the First Limited Investor and the Second Limited Investor in the Joint Venture; and (4) other similar formation of joint ventures in the shipbuilding and ocean engineering industry in the market, the Directors consider that the terms of the JV Agreement (including the profit distribution arrangement and the management of the Joint Venture) are on normal commercial terms, fair and reasonable and are in the interests of the Company and the Shareholders as a whole.

IMPLICATIONS OF LISTING RULES

As the applicable percentage ratios calculated in accordance with Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules for the transaction contemplated under the JV Agreement (including the contribution of the investment amount of RMB400,000,000 by the First Limited Investor to the Joint Venture) are more than 5% but less than 25%, such transaction constitutes a discloseable transaction of the Company and is subject to the reporting and announcement requirements under the Listing Rules.
