

Wuhu Electric Obtains Software Copyright Certificates for Three Information Systems

Wuhu Electric has obtained national software copyright certificates for three information systems developed independently on its own.

The information systems granted the computer software copyrights are designed and developed in-house by Wuhu Electric. They cover production management, file exchange over internet and intranet, etc, and have effectively improved the work efficiency and quality of the company. The company will continue its efforts on their operation and maintenance and subsequent development and improvement to further the role of information technology in production operation and safety management, so as to build a comprehensive information application platform that suits the company.
