

CPID Holds Training Course on Eco-Environmental Protection Management

From October 25 to 29, 2021, CPID held a training course on eco-environmental protection management at the training center of Changshu Power Generation Company, with 35 CPID employees trained.

The training course is provided for the personnel of environmental protection supervision and environmental protection equipment management, focusing on environmental protection laws and regulations; policies and situation on environmental protection equipment management, hazardous solid waste management, environmental protection supervision, peaking carbon emissions and carbon neutrality; carbon emission trading management in power generation industry, etc. The training was provided by experienced experts and teachers, aiming to improve the professional ability and skills of trainees in aspects such as environmental protection supervision, environmental protection equipment management, carbon emission management and environmental protection laws and regulations, and ensure the compliance of environmental protection management.