Brief Description:

1. In the single month of July, the daily average toll traffic volume and toll fee for most projects recorded a month-on-month significant increase compared to June, which was in line with the trend seen in previous years and was due to normal cyclical change.
2. Xian Expressway: the International Horticultural Exposition 2011 brought in huge traffic volume. In 2010, the expansion work at Xitong Expressway and the commencement of construction of municipal roads diverted traffic and prohibited truck traffic, resulting in a significant drop in both traffic volume and toll revenue. All these led to a significant year-on-year increase in traffic volume and toll revenue in July to achieve a record high.
3. Jinbao Expressway: there was a slight change in the structure of regional traffic volume since the opening of the Binbao Expressway, resulting in a year-on-year increase in traffic volume and year-on-year decrease in toll revenue in the single month of July.
4. Cangyu Expressway: Since the opening of Guangwu Expressway on 30 June 2010, Cangyu Expressway began to double its revenue in July 2010. Due to the high base, it began to record a slow year-on-year growth in July 2011.
5. Hanxiao Expressway: the Wuhan municipal government's decision to gradually relocate the Hanzheng Jie Goods Market to the Hankou North Wholesale City this year resulted in an increase in goods traffic volume. Therefore, traffic volume and toll revenue of Hanxiao Expressway recorded a large year-on-year growth.
6. Changzhu Expressway: Since the opening of Changzhu Expressway on 31 August 2010, it recorded a stable growth in traffic volume and toll revenue.
7. Qinglian Expressway: the completion of expressway construction works and re-opening of the Liannan section (27 kilometres) on 25 January 2011, the traffic volume and toll revenue of Qinglian Expressway maintained its strong year-on-year growth.
