No. 9 Des Voeux Road West

Dear Sirs/Madam,

INSTRUCTIONS

We refer to your instruction for us to value the properties (the “Property”) held by Enviro Energy International Holdings Limited (the “Company”) together with its subsidiaries (the “Group”) located in the People’s Republic of China (the “PRC”). We confirm that we have carried out property inspections, made relevant enquiries and obtained such further information as we consider necessary for the purpose of providing you with our opinion of the investment value of the Property as at 29 February 2024 (the “Valuation Date”).

This letter which forms part of our valuation report explains the basis and methodologies of valuation, clarifying assumptions, valuation considerations, title investigations and limiting conditions of this valuation.

BASIS OF VALUATION

Investment value (“Investment Value”) is defined in accordance with the HKIS Valuation Standards of the Hong Kong Institute of Surveyors to mean “the value of an asset to a particular owner or prospective owner for individual investment.”

Investment Value “is an entity-specific basis of value that measures the value of the benefits of ownership to the current owner or to a prospective owner, recognizing that these may differ from those of a typical market participant. Although the value of an asset to the owner may be the same as the amount that could be realised from its sale to another party, this basis of value reflects the benefits received by an entity from holding the asset and, there, does not involve a presumed exchange.”

As the properties is restricted to be freely transferred or disposed of in the open market as at the Valuation Date (please refer to note No. 4 of “Property Particulars and Opinion of Value”) by the court. Therefore we adopt the Investment Value as the basis of valuation.

VALUATION METHODOLOGY

Based on the legal opinion obtained by the Group’s PRC legal adviser, China Commercial Law Firm (華商律師), dated 5 April 2024, the Property was sealed (查封) by the People’s Court and awaiting to be sealed (輪侯查封) by the Public Security Bureau which restricted the transfer or disposal of the Property in the open market. As at the Valuation Date, the Property was still sealed (查封) by the People’s Court and awaiting to be sealed (輪侯查封) by the Public Security Bureau. Accordingly, market approach which under assumption that the properties can be transacted in the open market may not be proper to be adopted.

Further based on the legal opinion, as the Property is legally held by the Group as at the Valuation Date, and despite the Property is sealed (查封) by the People’s Court and awaiting to be sealed (輪侯查封) by the Public Security Bureau, the act of seizure itself does not affect the validity of the existing lease agreements under the Property, but the lease agreements themselves should not be used against the plaintiff. Accordingly, the existing leases of the Property entered into between the Group and the leasees and their respective rental income are directly attributable to the Property as at the Valuation Date regardless of the restriction on transfer and disposal of the Property. As market approach may not be proper to be adopted, income approach is considered to be the most suitable, appropriate and common approach in accordance with the valuation standards and methods widely accepted by the valuation profession when estimating investment value of the Property as at the Valuation Date.

Term and Reversion Analysis is a common and suitable technique for the valuation of the properties subject to existing tenancies. This technique is used when the passing rent of a property differs from the market rent. It estimates the capital value of a property by capitalising rental income on a fully leased basis having regard to the current passing rental income from existing tenancy and the potential reversionary rental income at market level.

In Term and Reversion Analysis, the total rental income of a property is divided into the current passing rental income over the existing lease term, namely the term income, and the potential reversionary rental income after the expiry of the existing lease term, known as the reversionary income. The term value involves the capitalisation of the term income over the existing lease term. The reversionary value involves the capitalisation of the reversionary income after the expiry of existing lease term until the land expiry date and it is then discounted back to the valuation date.

VALUATION CONSIDERATIONS

In valuing the Property, we have complied with all the requirements contained in Chapter 5, Practice Note 12 to the Rules Governing the Listing of Securities issued by The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited, Rule 11 of the Code on Takeovers and Mergers issued by Securities and Futures Commission and the International Valuation Standards 2022.

VALUATION ASSUMPTION

In our valuation, unless otherwise stated, we have assumed that:

- i. no deleterious or hazardous materials or techniques have been used in the construction of the Property;
- ii. as no tests were carried out on any of the services during our site inspection, we have assumed the Property is connected to main services and sewers which are available on normal terms; and
- iii. the cost of repairs and maintenance to the buildings of which the Property forms part are shared among all owners of the building, and that there are no onerous liabilities outstanding.
