Demonstrates Industry Leadership and R&D Capability Brings Knitting Technology to a New Level

(Hong Kong, 17 September 2021) Nameson Holdings Limited (“Nameson” or the “Group”, stock code: 1982), one of the leading knitwear manufacturers in China, today announced it has successfully received a patent on “Knitting Device Application” (Patent number: ZL 2020 2 2767637.7) issued by National Intellectual Property Administration, PRC with a term of ten years.

Mr. Benny Wong Wai Yue, Chairman and Executive Director of Nameson, said “As a leader in the knitwear industry, we paid meticulous efforts on the research and development of the knitwear technology. In line with the Company’s development direction, our designers took bold steps, while taking into consideration the needs of customers, style, and production efficiency, for innovating a unique design that fulfills many purposes. Our team succeeded in turning an ideal concept to reality by overcoming the challenges of the existing technology to tremendously reduce the number of links required to manufacture a piece of knitwear. We are very pleased to receive the patent issued by the authority.

Mr. Wong concluded, “We accomplished a breakthrough while exploring the application potentials of existing knitting devices. The application not only results in shorter knitting time, raises production efficiency, reduces raw material deployment, while also enables enhanced flexibility in sweater design. It creates a win-win situation for brand customers, the manufacturer, as well as end-customers. We will continue on our innovation path, utilizing our advantage in the industry, and continue to strive for design excellence that suits market needs.”
